A fan had got a hold of me on the tsi youtube channel and was asking about the availability of the realm of rust on the bandcamp page. It is still floating around online elsewhere, but I figured it was worth going ahead and uploading it here. In the process I decided to do a slight eq retouch.

I wasn't able to do a proper treatment of "burn and measure" as I seem to have lost the originals, but I decided it was worth doing it with the rest of the album anyways.

tsi was still definitely finding our sound and production process for home recording and mixing. It's a little rough around the edges but I don't think the work needs too many disclaimers or excuses. I'm proud of everything we've done. Thanks for joining me on this journey.
